From the Parish Priest

Dear Parishioners,

It has been wonderful having our Brisbane Oratory Brothers with us over the last few weeks. For the last ten days or so they have been with their families but now they are back with us for a few more days before they depart once again for Toronto and Oxford to continue their studies for the sacred priesthood. Please continue to pray for Br Shawn Murphy, Br Tyson King, Br Conor Power and Br Matthew Buckley, that they will continue to be formed by the Lord Jesus into good and holy priests for all those they will serve through the Brisbane Oratory in Formation. Especially if you have not given before to support our seminarians (or have given before) please consider making a donation to help the Brothers in their studies for the priesthood. The Oratory relies solely on donations to accomplish this. We seek to give the Brothers the best possible seminary education combined with living in an exemplary Oratory community to complete their spiritual and human formation for the priesthood as well. There are many ways to give a donation:

- Using the Oratory Donation Box next to the side door to Mary Immaculate church.
- Through the website: Brisbane-oratory.org/donations.
- Using the Oratory side of our Parish Planned Giving double weekly envelopes. Please contact Shirley at the Parish Office about this option if you are not already on Planned Giving. Phone 3848 1107.
- Through the Catholic Bequest Program (see details Page 2).

Thank you for your continuing generosity and support.

Today we complete the Christmas Season with the Feast of the Epiphany of the Lord. Here is a thoughtful reflection to help us reflect on this special dimension of the mystery of Christmas.

Fr Andrew Wise

An epiphany on the Epiphany by Alejandro Teran-Somohano

In our everyday lives, we use the word ‘epiphany’ to mean a sudden realization about something. If I am stuck trying to solve a certain problem and the answer suddenly appears in my mind as if by divine inspiration, I would say: “I just had an epiphany.” However, that is not the only meaning of the word. ‘Epiphany’ originally meant ‘manifestation’ or ‘revelation’. Both meanings are related, of course, because in order for a revelation to be a revelation, it requires that someone receive it. You must reveal something to someone. A revelation to no one is, well, not a revelation at all. Furthermore, the recipient of a revelation must become aware of that revelation, he must realize that something is being revealed to him. Therefore, both meanings of the word ‘epiphany’ go hand in hand. They are, so to speak, two sides of the same coin.

This brief introduction is meant to set up my main point about the feast of the Epiphany of Our Lord, which we are celebrating this Sunday. That is, that in response to God’s Epiphany, we ought to have an epiphany of our own. Let us go back to our two meanings of the word ‘epiphany’. When the Church speaks of the “Epiphany of Our Lord”, she is speaking according to the second meaning I presented. She is referring to Christ’s first revelation to the world of who He is. The infinite God has manifested Himself in Bethlehem; He has revealed His face to the whole world in the face of the infant Jesus and the Magi are there to witness it.

The first meaning is also present in the story of the Magi. The Magi have seen a star, which they recognize as a sign of the birth of a king. What matters, however, is that they come to realize that it is not the birth of an ordinary king that this star is heralding. By having a personal epiphany, they become aware of whom this king truly is. And hence the gifts they bear: gold for a king, frankincense for a god, and myrrh for a suffering redeemer. Most importantly, however, is that their encounter with Christ is a transforming encounter.

Scripture hints at this by saying that they went back to their homes following a different path, or, as Archbishop Fulton Sheen put it: “No one who ever meets Christ with a good will returns the same way as he came.”

Epiphany is a time of decision, a moment in which we must define whether we embrace Christ and accept that He is who He said He is and surrender our entire lives to Him, or we stand in open defiance of Him. Therefore, the decision remains the same. And that leads us to what, I believe, is the whole point of the Epiphany.

Epiphany is a time of decision, a moment in which we must define whether we embrace Christ and accept that He is who He said He is and surrender our entire lives to Him, or we stand in open defiance of Him. If you are not going to take a stance, you might as well openly defy Him. Non-definition is a lukewarm response and we know that Christ does not favour the lukewarm, to say the least! [see Rev. 3: 16-22].

First Reading: Isaiah 60:1-6

Arise, shine out, for your light has come, the glory of the Lord is rising on you, though night still covers the earth and darkness the peoples. Above you the Lord now rises and above you his glory appears. The nations come to your light and kings to your dawning brightness. Lift up your eyes and look round: all are assembling and coming towards you, your sons from far away and your daughters being tenderly carried. At this sight you will grow radiant, your heart throbbing and full; since the riches of the sea will flow to you; the wealth of the nations come to you; camels in throngs will cover you, and dromedaries of Midian and Ephah; everyone in Sheba will come, bringing gold and incense and singing the praise of the Lord.

Response: Thanks be to God

Responsorial Psalm 71

(Said by all)

O God, give your judgment to the king, to a king's son your justice, that he may judge your people in justice and your poor in right judgement.

In his days justice shall flourish and peace till the moon fails. He shall rule from sea to sea, from the Great River to earth's bounds.

The kings of Tarshish and the sea coasts shall pay him tribute. The kings of Sheba and Seba shall bring him gifts. Before him all kings shall fall prostrate, all nations shall serve him.

For he shall save the poor when they cry and the needy who are helpless. He will have pity on the weak and save the lives of the poor.

Second Reading: Ephesians 3:2-3, 5-6

You have probably heard how I have been entrusted by God with the grace he meant for you, and that it was by a revelation that I was given the knowledge of the mystery. This mystery has now been revealed through the Spirit to his holy apostles and prophets was unknown to any men in past generations; it means that pagans now share the same inheritance, that they are parts of the same body, and that the same promise has been made to them, in Christ Jesus, through the gospel.

Response: Thanks be to God

Gospel Acclamation:

Alleluia, alleluia! We have seen his star in the east; and have come to adore the Lord. Alleluia!

Gospel: Matthew 2:1-12

After Jesus had been born at Bethlehem in Judaea during the reign of King Herod, some wise men came to Jerusalem from the east. 'Where is the infant king of the Jews?' they asked. 'We saw his star as it rose and have come to do him homage.' When King Herod heard this he was perturbed, and so was the whole of Jerusalem.

He called together all the chief priests and the scribes of the people, and enquired of them where the Christ was to be born. 'At Bethlehem in Judaea,' they told him 'for this is what the prophet wrote: And you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah, you are by no means least among the leaders of Judah, for out of you will come a leader who will shepherd my people Israel.' Then Herod summoned the wise men to see him privately. He asked them the exact date on which the star had appeared, and sent them on to Bethlehem. 'Go and find out all about the child,' he said 'and when you have found him, let me know, so that I too may go and do him homage.' Having listened to what the king had to say, they set out. And there in front of them was the star they had seen rising; it went forward and halted over the place where the child was. The sight of the star filled them with delight, and going into the house they saw the child with his mother Mary, and falling to their knees they did him homage. Then, opening their treasures, they offered him gifts of gold and frankincense and myrrh. But they were warned in a dream not to go back to Herod, and returned to their own country by a different way.

The Gospel of the Lord

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ.

Memorial Acclamation: Number Two

When we eat this Bread and drink this Cup, we proclaim your Death, O Lord, until you come again.

Everything will be provided, but please allow some extra time after Mass for this most important and urgent task.

A number of copies of the excellent book by Dr David Van Gend titled Stealing from a Child: The Injustice of Marriage Equality are available at the back of Mary Immaculate Church. The books are free but a donation to the Oratory Donation box in the church would be welcomed. Thank you.
